Jun 19, 2020 Windows 8.1 Pro is a wonderful edition of Windows 8. It's an updated version of Windows 8 operating system that is characterized by the simplified user interface for the operation. Windows 8.1 Pro contains the option to switch between the desktop mode and tablet mode when you use it on a tablet. There are new apps available for Windows 8.1 Pro so we can say that the operating system is a complete improvement. Jun 3, 2020 Spotify has made Windows 10 compatible with its latest app. Now users can enjoy playing music online by simply adding the new app and opening it on their Windows 10 devices. Spotify has also rolled out an update which can now be downloaded and updated on the same device that was previously used for the application. Apr 24, 2020 Windows 10 and Windows 10 Mobile will be updated with Thunderbolt 3 and USB Type-C functionality, in addition to other minor improvements. Notably, Thunderbolt 3 and USB Type-C will likely launch sometime after Windows 10 can be updated by PCs, but it's good to have some idea of when it'll happen. Mar 31, 2020 Windows 10 might be on its way to becoming the next Windows Vista (which could be why they are [unsurprisingly] keeping silent about the rumored release date). The microsoft blog has an advertisement for the Windows 10 version 1903 build, touting that it's the "next generation of Windows". This new Windows 10 will include Thunderbolt 3 (on some desktops), USB Type-C, NVIDIA GPU driver and other features. Feb 9, 2020 Microsoft recently released a new build of Windows 10 that includes support for USB Type-C. The feature is not enabled by default but it is possible to turn it on in the settings menu. It is possible to activate USB Type-C directly from the desktop. Jan 9, 2020 Microsoft and Samsung have officially announced the availability of the Galaxy S20 line of smartphones. Two devices at the centre of attention are the Samsung Galaxy S20 and S20+. The phone has a 6.7-inch display with a resolution of 1440 x 3120 and a screen ratio of 19:9. Jan 6, 2020 Norton has announced that the next version of its antivirus software will be called Norton Core. The antivirus will include real-time protection for blocking malicious software as well as capabilities to automatically remove malware. This is a first in the antivirus
